

How to turn off popup blocking

For Internet Explorer:

If you are using windows XP with service pack 2 or greater you can turn off pop up blocking in internet explorer by going to tools, pop-up blocker, then selecting "turn off pop up blocker" as shown below:

If you don't have that option under tools then don't worry about it, that just means you don't have the integrated pop-up blocking in IE.

For the Google Toolbar:

If you have the google toolbar installed you can allow pop-ups by clicking on the blocked button on the google toolbar.

Once you click on the "blocked" button, it will say "site pop-ups allowed".
